Pool Noodle Baseball

Use pool noodles and bounce balls or other materials you have on hand for this slower pace version of baseball.

You will need:

- pool noodles or some other type of bat
- bouncy ball, beach ball, or other large ball
- paper plates or other bases

Setup and Play:

1. Set your paper plate bases out in a diamond pattern when you will be playing. Choose somewhere safe to play, like a backyard, field, or other open space. Depending on the weather conditions, you may need something like small rocks to hold your bases in place.
2. Pick plate to be your home base. Make sure everyone knows where home is.
3. One person grabs the pool noodle bat. Another person will be the pitcher. Make sure the pitcher has the ball.
4. Play ball!

Adapt It!

Need to adapt baseball? Below are some tips for how to adapt the sport for different needs:

- You can use a spinner or random number generator to move your players forward.
- Tee ball is always a great alternative for hitting a baseball. Use a larger barrel bat to make it easier to hit the ball.

How to Play:

Use the die or a spinner you have hand to know how many bases to take. You will need markers of some sort to keep track of your runners. Don't forget to keep score! Take turns "hitting" until you get 3 outs, then switch teams. Have fun!

What Can You Say While You Play?

No way!	Great!
Good job!	Cool!
Wow!	What's next?
Out!	Who's turn is it?
My turn	I win!
You go

Use this baseball die to play baseball indoors or anytime you'd like! Roll the die to find out how bases to take, if you get a strike, or an out. You may get lucky and hit a homerun!

Cut out the die and paste together. For a sturdier die, print on card stock or other thicker paper.
